

THE FUTURE OF FREEDOM CONFERENCE SERIES

The Oldest Libertarian/Individualist
Conference Series In The Nation (est. 1969)

The USC, 1977 Conference

[Future of Freedom story]

featured Prof. Arthur Laffer, inventor of the "Laffer Curve"; Robert Anton Wilson, author of Illuminatus trilogy; Karl Hess, former speech writer for Sen. Barry Goldwater's 1964 Presidential campaign; along with John J. Matonis, Robert LeFevre, J. Neil Schulman, John Pugsley, George Smith, John Hospers, David Bergland, Anthony Hargis, Sandy Shakocius, Carl Nicolai, Bob McGinley, Samuel E. Konkin III, Linda Abrams and Shawn Steel. The debate between libertarian Lowell Ponte and Marxist Prof. Jonathan Wiener was one of the highlights of the conference.

The ninth Future of Freedom Conference is being held at California State University, Long Beach on May 8, 9 and 10, 1981 in the Student Union. The practical approaches to liberty will be the main theme of the 1981 conference.

Through your support, we hope to continue this fine tradition (the 1982 conference is tentatively scheduled for USC).

THE FRIEDMAN vs. HAYDEN DEBATE--1977

attacked military spending and asked, "What about the Pentagon?" Before Friedman could disagree, the audience roared "abolish the Pentagon!" Shocked, Hayden paused and quietly responded to the audience "Well, we must have a Pentagon."

Later, a disgusted and angered Hayden attacked Friedman for unfair debate tactics. Finally, after answering a few questions from the audience, Hayden, still emotional, said he had had enough and walked off the stage.

Amazingly, few persons when asked could agree on who won the debate. Hayden lost on substance, but Friedman's "go for the throat" debate tactics backfired. Still, the debate will be long remembered.

In The Beginning with von Mises

Prof. Ludwig von Mises is considered as one of the most respected libertarian and Austrian economist of the century. It was only fitting that Ludwig von Mises was the keynote speaker at the first conference held at Cal State Univ., Long Beach in 1969.

Prof. Ludwig von Mises [1881-1973]

May 8, 9 & 10, 1981 (Fri. thru Sun.)
Cal State Univ., Long Beach
Student Union
(213) 869-6051 or (714) 979-5737

Future of Freedom Conference '81
P.O. Box 4
Fullerton, California 92632 U.S.A.

STAMP

Past Conferences

THE FUTURE OF FREEDOM SERIES
1969-1980

It was the first. Nothing like it had been done before. It was the first explicitly libertarian conference to be held in the history of the United States and perhaps the world. It was called The Ludwig von Mises Conference, and it was organized by college students.

It was May, 1969 and the purged West Coast leaders of Young Americans for Freedom (YAF) organized a new organization called the California Libertarian Alliance (CLA). Under the leadership of Dana Rohrabacher, Bill (Shawn) Steel, Doug Kennel, R. Kimberling, Dennis Turner, John Schurman and others, the CLA scheduled a conference on libertarianism and "Austrian Economics" at Cal State University, Long Beach. Prof. Ludwig von Mises was the keynote speaker, followed by Robert LeFevre, Tibor Machan and

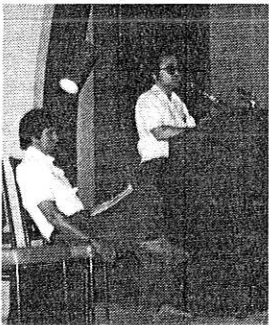

Phil Abbott Luce. More than 200 students attended. Liberty was re-kindled.

The next conference, "The Left-Right Festival of Liberation" (Feb. 1970) had some 500 eager listeners. This conference tried to patch differences between the Left and Right leaders of anti-statist and anti-authoritarian convictions. Held at the University of Southern California (USC), the conference fea-

THE DEBATE 1977

The David Friedman vs. Tom Hayden debate was the most controversial event of any of the conferences.

Apparently, Hayden was unaware of the libertarian philosophy. Mistaking Friedman for a conservative, Hayden [continued on back]

ured Prof. William Allen, UCLA economist; Carl Oglesby, former SDS president; F.A. Harper, founder of the Institute for Humane Studies; Rod Manis, Stanford University economist; Prof. Tibor Machan, U.C. philosopher; Karl Hess, former speech writer for Senator Barry Goldwater; and others.

The next conference, labeled "The Annual Festival of Liberation" (Nov., 1970) featured Paul Goodman, Prof. Murray Rothbard, Dr. Thomas Szasz, Skye D'Aureaus, Robert Love, Lowell Ponte and others. Held at USC, some 700 persons attended.

The fourth conference, entitled "Libertarian Conference" (Nov., 1971, USC) featured Michael Engler, Lowell Ponte, Don Franzen, Phillip A. Luce and Roy Childs.

Again held at USC, the fifth conference was billed as a "Symposium on The Political Implications of Modern Psychology" (Feb., 1972). Some of the main speakers included Dr. Nathaniel Branden, Robert LeFevre, George Bach, Carl Faber, David Harris, and Roy Childs.

The sixth conference centered on "The Future of Victimless Crimes" (Feb., 1973, USC). It featured Dr. Thomas Szasz, Dr. Nathaniel Branden, Prof. John Hospers, Robert LeFevre and the Los Angeles Police Chief, Tom Redden, who, despite his conservative image, spoke in favor of lessening pot penalties. Richard D. Hongisto, sheriff of San Francisco, told the more than 500 people in attendance that police are ignoring enforcement and protection from violent crimes in order to go after easy drug bust arrests.

The seventh conference, entitled "The Future of Freedom" (April, 1977, USC) is best remembered for the debate between Prof. David Friedman (son of the Nobel laureate, Prof. Milton Friedman), and Tom Hayden, former candidate for U.S. Senate and husband of Jane Fonda. The conference also featured Soviet dissenter Pavel Litvinov; law professor Norm Karlin; science fiction writer Poul Anderson; psychologist Nathaniel Branden; futurologist Jerome Tuccille; philosopher John Hospers; and tax resistance attorney John J. Matonis.

The eighth conference, titled "Future of Freedom II" (April, 1980) was held at Cypress College. It

Shawn Steel

Dana Rohrabacher

Doug Kennel

[Continued on back]

FUTURE OF FREEDOM CONFERENCE, P.O. Box 4, Fullerton, CA 92632

Please fill out the survey on the right whether or not you make a contribution.

Name _____

Address _____

City _____

State _____

Zip _____

Apt. No. _____

Phone No. _____

Occupation or School _____

YES, I WOULD LIKE TO HELP THE FUTURE OF FREEDOM CONFERENCE SERIES TO BECOME AN ANNUAL EVENT. YES, PLEASE ACCEPT MY CONTRIBUTION (OR PLEDGE) of:

$500, $250, $150, $100, $50, $25, $10, $5, OTHER $ _____

Donations of $500 or more for Lifetime Associates, $150 for Patron Associates, $50 Regular Associates, $20 Associate and $5 for Students.

CONFERENCE SURVEY

The next conference should be held at:

The theme of the next conference should be:

Some of the speakers and debaters I would like to hear next time are: _____

Yes, I would like to work on the next conference.

I heard about the conference from: in a journal (which one: Reason, Libertarian Review, Libertas Review, Frontlines, Liber-Cal, Libertarian Alternative, Callber, LP News, O.C. Libertarian, SLS Liberty, Libertarian Vanguard, Dissent, The Register, other _____), radio, TV, newspaper, from a friend, poster, flyer, other _____

Cut and mail

THE FUTURE OF FREEDOM CONFERENCE SERIES

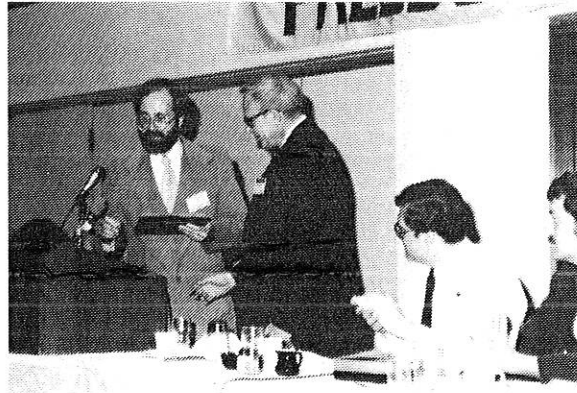

The Oldest Libertarian/Individualist
Conference Series In The Nation (est. 1969)

The USC, 1977 Conference

[The Future of Freedom story]

The ninth Future of Freedom Conference was held at California State University, Long Beach (May, 1981). The practical approaches to liberty were discussed by featured speakers Karl Hess and Timothy Leary before an audience of 500 people. A banquet was held to honor Professor John Hospers in recognition of his special contributions to the libertarian movement, and Dr. Demen-to entertained the crowds at the Saturday Night Party, playing a wacky selection of music with libertarian and anti-statist themes. Irwin Schiff was slated to speak, but ran afoul of the IRS and was unable to attend. Panels included: David Friedman, Lowell Ponte and Samuel E. Konkin III discussing foreign policy and American defense strategies; George Smith, John Hospers and Robert LeFevre discussing justice and liberty in a free society; and Fred Schnaubelt, San Diego City Councilman, and Dennis Brown, Assemblyman, discussing "Looking at Government from the Inside." Frank Fortkamp and Allan E. Harrison gave a panel talk on education. Lee and Joyce Shulman, both psychologists in private practice, joined the line-up of speakers, and long-time libertarians Jack Matonis, Carl Nicolai, Robert Poole, and Shawn Steel rounded out the conference activities.

In 1981 John Hospers was presented with honors at the banquet by Lawrence Samuels.

The tenth Future of Freedom Conference is being held again at California State University, Long Beach, on October 1, 2 and 3, 1982, in the Student Union. A banquet will be held on Friday, October 1, to honor Nathaniel Branden. Other activities planned are a debate between David Friedman and Jeffrey Rogers Hummel on nuclear disarmament and a talk by Dr. Thomas Szasz and Douglas Casey.

October 1, 2 & 3, 1982 (Fri. thru Sun.)
Cal State Univ., Long Beach
Student Union
(213) 597-2769 or (714) 979-5737

Future of Freedom Conference '82
P.O. Box 4
Fullerton, California 92632 U.S.A.

STAMP

Past Conferences

THE FUTURE OF FREEDOM SERIES 1969-1980

It was the first. Nothing like it had been done before. It was the first explicitly libertarian conference to be held in the history of the United States and perhaps the world. It was called The Ludwig von Mises Conference, and it was organized by college students.

It was May, 1969 and the purged West Coast leaders of Young Americans for Freedom (YAF) organized a new organization called the California Libertarian Alliance (CLA). Under the leadership of Dana Rohrabacher, Bill (Shawn) Steel, Doug Kennel, R. Kimberling, Dennis Turner, John Schurman and others, the CLA scheduled a conference on libertarianism and "Austrian Economics" at Cal State University, Long Beach. Prof. Ludwig von Mises was the keynote speaker, followed by Robert LeFevre, Tibor Machan and

Phil Abbott Luce. More than 200 students attended. Liberty was re-kindled.

The next conference, "The Left-Right Festival of Liberation" (Feb. 1970) had some 500 eager listeners. This conference tried to patch differences between the Left and Right leaders of anti-statist and anti-authoritarian convictions. Held at the University of Southern California (USC), the conference featured Prof. William Allen, UCLA economist; Carl Oglesby, former SDS president; F.A. Harper, founder of the Institute for Humane Studies; Rod Manis, Stanford University economist; Prof. Tibor Machan, U.C. philosopher; Karl Hess, former speech writer for Senator Barry Goldwater; and others.

The next conference, labeled "The Annual Festival of Liberation" (Nov., 1970) featured Paul Goodman, Prof. Murray Rothbard, Dr. Thomas Szasz, Skye D'Aureaus, Robert Love, Lowell Ponte and others. Held at USC, some 700 persons attended.

The fourth conference, entitled "Libertarian Conference" (Nov., 1971, USC) featured Michael Engler, Lowell Ponte, Don Franzen, Phillip A. Luce and Roy Childs.

Again held at USC, the fifth conference was billed as a "Symposium on The Political Implications of Modern Psychology" (Feb., 1972). Some of the main speakers included Dr. Nathaniel Branden, Robert LeFevre, George Bach, Carl Faber, David Harris, and Roy Childs.

The sixth conference centered on "The Future of Victimless Crimes" (Feb., 1973, USC). It featured Dr. Thomas Szasz, Dr. Nathaniel Branden, Prof. John Hospers, Robert LeFevre and the Los Angeles Police Chief, Tom Redden, who, despite his conservative image, spoke in favor of lessening pot penalties. Richard D. Hongisto, sheriff of San Francisco, told the more than 500 people in attendance that police are ignoring enforcement and protection from violent crimes in order to go after easy drug bust arrests.

The seventh conference, entitled "The Future of Freedom" (April, 1977, USC) is best remembered for the debate between Prof. David Friedman (son of the Nobel laureate, Prof. Milton Friedman), and Tom Hayden, former candidate for U.S. Senate and husband of Jane Fonda. The conference also featured Soviet dissenter Pavel Litvinov; law professor Norm Karlin; science fiction writer Poul Anderson; psychologist Nathaniel Branden; futurologist Jerome Tuccille; philosopher John Hospers; and tax resistance attorney John J. Matonis.

The eighth conference, titled "Future of Freedom II" (April, 1980) was held at Cypress College. It featured Prof. Arthur Laffer, inventor of the "Laffer Curve"; Robert Anton Wilson, author of Illuminatus trilogy; Karl Hess, former speech writer for Sen. Barry Goldwater's 1964 Presidential campaign; along with John J. Matonis, Robert LeFevre, J. Neil Schulman, John Pugsley, George Smith, John Hospers, David Bergland, Anthony Hargis, Sandy Shakocius, Carl Nicolai, Bob McGinley, Samuel E. Konkin III, Linda Abrams and Shawn Steel. The debate between libertarian Lowell Ponte and Marxist Prof. Jonathan Wiener was one of the highlights of the conference.

The ninth Future of Freedom Conference is being held at California State University, Long Beach on May 8, 9 and 10, 1981 in the Student Union. The practical approaches to liberty will be the main theme of the 1981 conference.

Through your support, we hope to continue this fine tradition (the 1982 conference is tentatively scheduled for USC).

THE FRIEDMAN vs. HAYDEN DEBATE--1977

THE DEBATE-1977

The David Friedman vs. Tom Hayden debate was the most controversial event of any of the conferences.

Apparently, Hayden was unaware of the libertarian philosophy. Mistaking Friedman for a conservative, Hayden attacked military spending and asked, "What about the Pentagon?" Before Friedman could disagree, the audience roared "abolish the Pentagon!" Shocked, Hayden paused and quietly responded to the audience "Well, we must have a Pentagon."

Later, a disgusted and angered Hayden attacked Friedman for unfair debate tactics. Finally, after answering a few questions from the audience, Hayden, still emotional, said he had had enough and walked off the stage.

Amazingly, few persons when asked could agree on who won the debate. Hayden lost on substance, but Friedman's "go for the throat" debate tactics backfired. Still, the debate will be long remembered.

Shawn Steel

Dana Rohrabacher

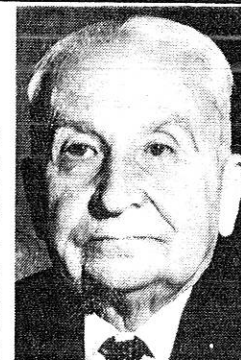

Doug Kennel

Other Activities

Workshops, exhibit tables and programme advertisements are available at the Future of Freedom Conference. Almost any club or organization can give a one-hour workshop, exhibit fliers and materials on a table or buy space in the official conference programme.

In The Beginning with von Mises

Prof. Ludwig von Mises is considered as one of the most respected libertarian and Austrian economist of the century. It was only fitting that Ludwig von Mises was the keynote speaker at the first conference held at Cal State Univ., Long Beach in 1969.

Prof. Ludwig von Mises [1881-1973]

[Continued on back page]